above uses, including dairy farms with the necessary accessory uses for treating or storing the produce, provided, however that the operation of such accessory uses shall be secondary to that of the normal farming activities, and provided further, that farming does not include the feeding of collected garbage or offal to swine or other animals.

Farmstead- The service area of a farm which typically includes the farmhouse, outbuildings, and some trees.

Farm Exempt (Iowa Code Section 335.2)- Except to the extent requires to implement Iowa Code 335.27, no ordinance adopted under this chapter applies to land, farmhouses, farm barns, farm outbuildings, or other buildings and structures, which are primarily adapted, by reason of nature and area, for use of agricultural purposes, while so used. However, the ordinances may apply to any structure, building, dam, obstruction, deposit, or excavation in or on the flood plains of any river or stream.

Mitchell County Filing Procedure- The filing and retention of documents in the office of the Mitchell County Planning & Zoning Department. Any time reference is made to the filing of a document, the document needs to be scanned to the County hard drive and saved in the appropriate file for the subject property unless stated otherwise. The original shall then be placed in an appropriate file folder. All original documents should be scanned to the hard drive and the original retained in the office.

PROCEDURE:

1. An applicant will need to contact the Mitchell County Zoning Administrator or visit the Mitchell County website at <https://mitchellcounty.iowa.gov/departments/planning-a-zoning/> to obtain a Zoning Application.
2. Upon completion of the Zoning Application, the applicant must submit same to the Mitchell County Zoning Administrator along with a non-refundable $55.00 and any other supporting documentation.
3. Upon receiving the Zoning Application, and the non-refundable fee, the Zoning Administrator will go through a checklist with the applicant to determine the size of the lot, what zone the property is currently located in, whether the property is in a flood zone, and whether any condition uses, variances, or rezoning requests need to be approved prior to the issuance of the building permit, as well as whether a septic and/or well permit will also be required and whether the proposed setbacks are in compliance with the Mitchell County Zoning Ordinance. In order to answer these questions, the Zoning Administrator must visit with the applicant and thoroughly research the subject property. A site visit may also be necessary upon the discretion of the Zoning Administrator.

4. In the event the applicant is applying for a building permit to have a new home on a bare piece of ground that is less than thirty-five (35) acres, the applicant will need to apply to have the property rezoned to Residential, Single Family in accordance with the Mitchell County Zoning Hearing Procedures, unless the subject property is an existing building site prior to September 11, 1990, with either a well, foundation, or other evidence of the prior site still remaining on the subject property. If the rezoning request is denied, the applicant will not be allowed to build any structure on the subject property.

5. If the applicant plans to operate a business on the subject property, the property may be subject to rezoning or conditional use request as determined by the Mitchell County Zoning Administrator, depending on the nature of the business and what is allowed in the zoning district as listed in the Mitchell County Zoning Ordinance. If the applicant can not meet the setbacks requires in the zoning district of the subject property, a variance will be required. Please refer to the Mitchell County Conditional Uses/Variance Policy & Procedures for additional information.

6. Once the property has been thoroughly researched, the Zoning Administrator will the fill out the building permit. The Zoning Administrator will sign the original copy of the building permit and filing it in regard to the Mitchell County Filing Procedures as stated above. The applicant will receive a copy of the original building permit.

7. In the event that the applicant desires to erect a building in the floodplain, a floodplain permit will also need to be filled out, with a copy of the permit being given to the applicant. All floodplain building regulations shall be followed by the applicant when erecting a structure in the floodplain.
